

PRUDENCE COUCH.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 451.]

---

MAY 26, 1842.

---

Mr. FURNACE, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions to whom was referred the petition of Prudence Couch, report:

That a certificate from the comptroller's office at Hartford, Connecticut, proves that John Couch had served three years during the war of the Revolution. The petitioner also produces the affidavit of one of her children to prove the death of their father, and the names and reputed age of the children. She has also produced a certificate from the records of the congregational church in New Milford, Connecticut, from which it appears that, on the 25th day of March, 1781, a daughter of John Couch, called Rebecca, was baptized. The Commissioner of Pensions refused her a pension, because she did not establish her identity. The committee, however, think there can be but little doubt of her identity, especially as there appears but one John Couch on the rolls. They therefore recommend a bill granting her a pension under the act of 1838.

PRUDENCE COUCH.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 431.]

MAY 26, 1842.

Mr. Farnsworth, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions to whom was referred the petition of Prudence Couch, report:

That a certificate from the comptroller's office at Hartford, Connecticut, proves that John Couch had served three years during the war of the Revolution. The petitioner also produces the affidavit of one of her children to prove the death of their father, and the names and reputed age of the children. She has also produced a certificate from the records of the congregational church in New Milford, Connecticut, from which appears that on the 23d day of March, 1781, a daughter of John Couch, called Rebecca, was baptized. The Commissioner of Pensions refused her a pension, because she did not establish her identity. The committee, however, think there can be but little doubt of her identity, especially as there appears but one John Couch on the rolls. They therefore recommend a bill granting her a pension under the act of 1838.